

May 2018 Master of Science in Economics Graduates

The Department of Economics is proud to announce the May, 2018 graduation of 57 students from the Master of Science in Economics program.

In a ceremony to recognize these outstanding students, Dr Tim Gronberg (Professor and Department Head) and Dr Li Gan (Professor and Director of the Master's Program) presented each of the graduating students with a certificate of graduation prior to them receiving their diploma. Some students will be employed at companies such as Ernst and Young, Deloitte, Quorum Business Solutions and USAA while others will be attending PhD programs throughout the United States.

This event was well attended by family and friends – many of whom came from China and India to see their child graduate.
